

GUIDELINES FOR AUTHORS AND GUEST EDITORS OF MARVELLOUS GROUNDS
(marvellousgrounds.com)

1. Copyright

The Author grants and assigns to Marvellous Grounds the non-exclusive right to publish their original content on the Marvellous Grounds website (marvellousgrounds.com). All other rights in the submission now existing or which may hereafter come into existence, except those hereby specifically granted to Marvellous Grounds, are reserved to and by the Author for the Author's use.

2. Research Ethics and Copyright

By publishing on the Marvellous Grounds website, the Author agrees that they have represented all individuals and communities discussed in their contribution fairly and ethically, and given due thought to how their representations may impact relationships in the community. The Author further agrees that they have done their due diligence in clearing copyright for any texts and images used in their submission and agrees to take responsibility should any copyright issues regarding their contribution arise.

3. Acknowledgment

When republishing the content, the author agrees to cite Marvellous Grounds as the first publisher with the following citation format:

Author (year). (Title of their contribution). In (title of the blog issue), Marvellous Grounds. Available online: (web link to the contribution on marvellousgrounds.com), date of publication.

4. What We Offer

Marvellous Grounds is a collectively run archive meant to support community members in editing and publishing their work, with a wider goal of documenting queer and trans Black, Indigenous and people of colour histories in Toronto that are often erased. We provide this support for free, and we do not offer contributors a publishing fee. By agreeing to publish on Marvellous Grounds' website, the Author understands that Marvellous Grounds, as a self-publishing platform, does not offer honoraria for submissions.

5. Author Changes to the Work

Due to the nature of the collective, which fluctuates in its human resources and capacities, we do not accept changes to the work once it is published.

6. Advertising and Promotion

Marvellous Grounds shall have the right to use the Author's name, image, likeness and biographical material provided by the Author for advertising and promoting the blog to its readers, including through social media online.

7. Guest Editors' Responsibilities

While we provide mentorship and support to help guest editors bring their special issue or focus into a publishable format, each guest editor agrees to take the ultimate responsibility for their issue. In addition to ensuring that their contributing authors are aware of the terms and conditions outlined above, the guest editor agrees to work with their authors to reach their full potential and to carefully proofread each contribution.
